POLICE ROW DEVELOPS MANY COMPLICATIONS.

Chief of Police Thomas H. Hilton will not resign his office in response Mayor Thorpson, and he will not be removed during the life of the present administration. This was the most interesting development yesterday in an affair that greatly stirred the city. The consensus of opinion is that the mayor made a mistake in demanding the resignation at this time; that since he had let the matter run so long, he could be a consensus of the city of the consensus of opinion is that the mayor made a mistake in demanding the resignation at this time; that since he had let the matter run so long, he could be consensus of the city of the consensus of the consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the matter run so long, he could be consensus of opinion is that the consensus of opinion is that th of the year, and make what changes he conservative members of the force have managed to keep out of the breil, but a large majority have taken sides in one camp or the other. The feeling that if Chief Hilton is removed it means offic, if death to practically half the members on the force is adding its full share to the demoralization.

The judge who tried the case has been asked for a report by the home secretary, and it is expected from his attitude when sentencing her that he will advise clemency. In the mean-
